Index

Volume 31 (October 1998–July 1999)

Barrell, Barrie. Technology and change in Atlantic Canada's new secondary English language arts curriculum, 231.

Bishop, Karen. Rolling the tape on situated performance activities: Lights, camera, action, 223.

DeStigter, Todd. A good gang: Thinking small with preservice teachers in a Chicago barrio, 65.

Draper, Andrew. The unlooked-for, 92.

Farmer, Talisha. Reflecting on reflection: A student's view, 201.

Finders, Margaret J. & Rose, Shirley K. "If I were the teacher": Situated performances as pedagogical tools for teacher preparation, 205.

Gaughan, John. From literature to language: Personal writing and critical pedagogy, 310.

Hagemann, Julie A. & Wininger, Melvin R. An ideological approach to grammar pedagogy in English education courses, 265.

Hammett, Roberta F. & Barrell, Barrie. Resistance and re-representation as reflection, 248.

Harkavy, Becca. Acting as teacher, 226.

Hellman, Jennifer & Hellman, Greg. A dialogue on quiet students, 23.

Himley, Margaret. Teaching the rhetoric of AIDS: Blurring the boundaries, 122.

Iasevoli, David. A hot thing: Working on Toni Morrison's Beloved, 60.

Jackson, Alecia & Massengill-McLeod, Amelia. Refraction in action: Applications of the model, 203.

Kesson, Kathleen & Oyler, Celia. Integrated curriculum and service learning: Linking school-based knowledge and social action,135.

Mayher, John S. Reflections on standards and standard setting: An insider/outsider perspective on the NCTE/IRA Standards, 106.

Nilsson, Blythe. Some students consider how we might help students talk, 20.

Onore, Cynthia. That's a nice profession for a girl: An editorial, 103.

Onore, Cynthia. Whole language, whole school, whole community: Truths and consequences, 150.

Pope, Carol A. Reflection and refraction: A reflexive look at an evolving model for methods instruction,177.

Pultinas, Raymond. Work spaces, texts inside, 62.

Reid, Louann. Fighting fixity in teacher education, 45.

Reilly, Mary Ann. Difficult flows and waves: Unfixing beliefs in a grade 8 language arts literacy class, 26.

Index

Volume 31 (October 1998–July 1999)

Barrell, Barrie. Technology and change in Atlantic Canada's new secondary English language arts curriculum, 231.

Bishop, Karen. Rolling the tape on situated performance activities: Lights, camera, action, 223.

DeStigter, Todd. A good gang: Thinking small with preservice teachers in a Chicago barrio, 65.

Draper, Andrew. The unlooked-for, 92.

Farmer, Talisha. Reflecting on reflection: A student's view, 201.

Finders, Margaret J. & Rose, Shirley K. "If I were the teacher": Situated performances as pedagogical tools for teacher preparation, 205.

Gaughan, John. From literature to language: Personal writing and critical pedagogy, 310.

Hagemann, Julie A. & Wininger, Melvin R. An ideological approach to grammar pedagogy in English education courses, 265.

Hammett, Roberta F. & Barrell, Barrie. Resistance and re-representation as reflection, 248.

Harkavy, Becca. Acting as teacher, 226.

Hellman, Jennifer & Hellman, Greg. A dialogue on quiet students, 23.

Himley, Margaret. Teaching the rhetoric of AIDS: Blurring the boundaries, 122.

Iasevoli, David. A hot thing: Working on Toni Morrison's Beloved, 60.

Jackson, Alecia & Massengill-McLeod, Amelia. Refraction in action: Applications of the model, 203.

Kesson, Kathleen & Oyler, Celia. Integrated curriculum and service learning: Linking school-based knowledge and social action,135.

Mayher, John S. Reflections on standards and standard setting: An insider/outsider perspective on the NCTE/IRA Standards, 106.

Nilsson, Blythe. Some students consider how we might help students talk, 20.

Onore, Cynthia. That's a nice profession for a girl: An editorial, 103.

Onore, Cynthia. Whole language, whole school, whole community: Truths and consequences, 150.

Pope, Carol A. Reflection and refraction: A reflexive look at an evolving model for methods instruction,177.

Pultinas, Raymond. Work spaces, texts inside, 62.

Reid, Louann. Fighting fixity in teacher education, 45.

Reilly, Mary Ann. Difficult flows and waves: Unfixing beliefs in a grade 8 language arts literacy class, 26.

Rogers, Theresa. Reading Gatsby*/performing* Jazz*: On narrative, voice, race, and resistance,* 48.
Rose, Matthew Fuller. "That was a tough one": Theory meets practice in the pre-service classroom, 228.
Schaafsma, David & Vinz, Ruth. Beyond reflection: An editorial, 175.
Schaafsma, David & Vinz, Ruth. Tribute to Oscar M. Haugh, founding editor of English Education, 327.
Shager, Hilary. A record of success, 42.
Steffen, Beth. Keep them coming back: Student-teacher relationships are the key to a school's success, 88.
Tapia, Elena. "I wouldn't think nothin' of it": Teacher candidates survey public on nonstandard usage, 295.
Townsend, Jane S. & Fu, Danling. Quiet students across cultures and contexts, 4.
Vinz, Ruth. A veil thin enough: An editorial, 3.
Vinz, Ruth & Schaafsma, David. Unheard messages: An editorial, 263.